The Daily Courant.

Monday, November 2. 1702.

Hague, October 17. O. S.

THE Army ſeparated near Liege on Tueſday laſt to go into Winter-Quarters; the ſame Evening his Excellency the Earl of Marlborough embark'd at Maeſtricht to go down the River intoHolland,and with him hisExcellency Monſ.Geldermalſen and Monſ.Obdam.Next Morning they arriv'd at Ruremond; where they were joyn'd by Monſ. Coehorn; they dined with the Governour the Prince of Holſtein Beek, and then purſued their Voyage; ordering a Guard of 50 Horſe to attend them along the Shore, which, with 60 Men that were in Monſ. Coehorn's Boat, beſides 25 under a Lieutenant that were on Board their own Boat, were thought to be a ſufficient Convoy. Their Excellencies arriv'd at Venlo at 7 a Clock in the Evening, where the 50 Horſe being reliev'd by a like number of that Garriſon, they continued their Voyage; between 11 and 12 (the Boats being ſeparated in the Night, and their Guard of Horſe marching at ſome diſtance from the River) a Party of 35 Men of the Garriſon of Gelder, who lay skulking on the Bank 3 Leagues on this ſide Venlo, ſeiz'd the Rope with which the Boat was drawn by a Horſe, and hall'd it cloſe to the Shore; then they fir'd in among them with their ſmall Arms, threw in Grenadoes, and enter'd and ſecur'd the Boat; After they had examin'd the Paſſports, they ſtaid till 5 in the Morning ſearching the Baggage; and then went off, taking with them all the Plate they could find, and the only 25 Soldiers Priſoners; leaving their Excellencies to purſue their Voyage to the Hague, where they happily arriv'd this Evening. The Governour of Venlo having notice of their being taken, diſpatch'd an Expreſs to the States, and went out with his whole Garriſon at break of day to inveſt Gelder. The Expreſs came to the Hague laſt night, and the States aſſembled upon it this morning. It is not to be expreſs'd with how great a Conſternation and Concern this News was receiv'd here by all ſorts of People, who were ſo overjoy'd when his Excellency arriv'd, that it was a long time before he could paſs to his Houſe thro' the Crowds that throng'd about him.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Nov. 7.

Hague, Nov. 6. They write from Liege, that 14 Regiments of Foot and 6 of Horſe are to winter in that place, 12 of Foot and 7 of Horſe in Maeſtricht, that above 4000 Men are order'd to garriſon Aix la Chappelle, and that ſome Troops would be commanded towards Triers.

Coblents, Nov. 2. Count Tallard and the Marquels of Loemaria are march'd towards Traerbach, with a great Train of Artillery, Mortars, and Ammunition. They have put a Garriſon of 300 Men into the Abby of St. Martin near Triers; and have oblig'd the Country to furniſh them with 160 Waggons.

Frankfort, Nov. 2. The two laſt Poſts from Switzerland have been intercepted by the Enemy, ſo that we have no Letters from thence; but we learn by ſome Perſons that came hither within theſe 2 days out of the Country of Wurtenburg,that Prince Lewis of Baden lyes with his Army near Hoogſtauffen, and that Count Stirum and the other Troops that he expected, have joyn'd him, ſo that he has now 30000 Men and a fine Train of Artillery. 'Tis probable he will firſt attack Newburg, and afterwards the Marſhal de Villars, who is encamp'd near it, and has receiv'd a freſh Reinforcement from Marſhal Catinat. Mean time, notwithſtanding the Swiſs Letters are not come yet, ſome will have it, that there is certain Advice that the French have repaſs'd the Rhine; and that there is great hopes of an Accommodation with the Elector of Bavaria.
